Caring Support Starts Here...

A Personal Tribute...

Losing a loved one is a life-changing event and one that happens in its own time. Creating a fitting tribute to your loved one's life can at once seem daunting and yet so important when that time comes. Having a service that celebrates and captures the true personality of your family member or friend can be done, with a little caring support.

It's my honor to bring my experience in co-creating memorials together with the wishes of family and friends to make your loved one's service both a time of healing and a fitting tribute.

On land or at sea, in the mountains or by the shore, I'm here to help you through and to help you create a service that brings family and friends together to celebrate someone who's life touched theirs.

If that time has come, I invite you to call me...
